

Les Chevaliers des Vins de France is pleased to present on September 29th at 6:30 PM at the Dubrulle Pavilion at Stanley Park an Alsace Dinner with Peter Burrow

Choucroute is not your average sauerkraut. It's a French regional dish from the Alsace that cooks the cabbage in wine, either Riesling or Gewurztraminer. This removes the acidity normally found in the German style that uses vinegar. The choice of cooking wine matches the wine accompanying the course. With a "garni" of pork, sausage and boiled potatoes you have a "stick to your ribs" country dinner with a touch of sophistication. Add to this classic starters and finishing courses with matching wines and we are set for a fine evening.

Hosting this event is "wine slave" Peter Burrow of Benchmark Domaines and Estates who will lead us through the sometimes confusing and often ignored region of Alsace.
